

'S ALWAYS MILLER TIME

Legendary hooper takes GLOBE on a private tour of her Bevhills mansion

PHOTO EXCLUSIVE!

GREEN queen Ann Miller has lived in her elegant mansion for 61 years – but she actually bought it for someone else.

“I got it for my mother Clara,” Miller tells GLOBE in an exclusive interview. “But whenever I was myself between husbands, I’d come straight back here – to the home my mother always kept.”

Miller, a legendary hooper – who has danced in more than 100 films, including the classics 42nd Street, On the Town, Kiss Me Kate, as well as Broadway hits Sugar and Mame – got married three times, but her marriages were all brief and she was never away from her palatial 8,000-square-foot house for long.

The ageless wonder, who will appear in the upcoming film Mulholland Drive, has decorated the five-bedroom, five-bath home with gorgeous lush carpets and fabulous furniture, art and mementos of her 69-year career, which began when she appeared in 1934’s Anne of Green Gables at age 11.

An ornate sweeping staircase in the foyer allows Ann to make

DO YOU REMEMBER...?

You Can't Take It With You, with Lionel Barrymore, 1938

Easter Parade, with Fred Astaire, 1948

On the Town, with Gene Kelly & Frank Sinatra, 1949