

BARBRA STREISAND has just turned 60 – and friends say the golden-voiced diva is devastated!

The legendary singer is so upset about reaching the milestone on the road to senior citizenship that she “celebrated” her birthday with two parties that avoided the subject altogether.

“Barbra just can’t handle growing old,” a source close to Streisand tells GLOBE. “She told me, ‘I hate being 60!’”

“It upsets her on every level – emotionally and physically. And to make matters worse, she’s put on a lot of weight. Everything she wears these days is to hide the fact that she’s getting fat.”

Just days after the bashes, Streisand still appeared to be in a state of shock, sources tell GLOBE. As our amazing photos show, the once-glamorous star ventured out of her cliff-top Malibu compound with her 62-year-old actor-husband, James Brolin, completely undone and looking every one of her six decades.

“Poor Barbra,” one eyewitness tells GLOBE. “She really looked like she’d been through the wringer. Her face was pale and you could clearly see her wrinkles, worry lines and crow’s feet.”

Another passer-by says, “I could hardly believe it was her. I was shocked. She seemed really worn out. Her skin was colorless and her hair flat. She was wearing tinted glasses and looked as if she was trying to hide.”

And yet another stunned eyewitness tells GLOBE, “Barbra didn’t look like the elegant, glamorous star people are used to seeing. It’s hard to believe that this was the same gorgeous actress who starred in The Prince of Tides just 11 years ago. It’s like her age suddenly caught up with her – and she seems to know it. She’s pained when anyone recognizes her.”

Streisand shielded her haggard, sagging appearance during her outing with Brolin in Beverly Hills by using a giant black umbrella as she was walking toward their Lexus convertible.

Only days before these revealing photos were taken,

Just two years ago, Streisand’s face still had the youthful glow of 30 years back. But the hands of time started moving again for the star and today she’s barely recognizable

Birthday girl
Babs caught in her most unglamorous moment EVER

STREISAND AT 60