

TRACY MORGAN BACK IN COURT — FOR A DIVORCE

Tracy with his long-suffering wife, Sabina

← Comic tells all in EXCLUSIVE ENQUIRER INTERVIEW

FOLLOWING a string of outrageous drunken incidents and sexual shenanigans, “30 Rock” star Tracy Morgan has been dumped by his long-suffering wife, The ENQUIRER has learned exclusively.

“Sabina simply couldn’t take it anymore,” declared a pal.

“When Tracy drinks, he turns into a booze-fueled, sex-crazed wild man.”

The actor himself told The ENQUIRER: “Me and my wife are going through a divorce, but she is still my friend.”

“She is my rock and is totally supportive of what I am doing, and that’s me having hit rock bottom.”

Ironically, the 38-year-old entertainer told us about his divorce on Aug. 16 – while in New York to be sentenced for a drunk-driving bust that occurred last November.

Tracy married high school sweetheart Sabina in 1985, and the couple have three sons. He says his wild partying started during his seven-year stint on “Saturday Night Live.”

During the past year, The ENQUIRER covered many of his screwball antics as his alcohol abuse grew more dangerous.

In our Dec. 18, 2006, issue, we revealed how Tracy terrorized staff and patrons at the trendy Manhattan restaurant Cafeteria during several trips there.

Once, he got so drunk he stripped down to his boxer shorts in front of stunned customers, say sources.

He also simulated sex with a female patron, tried to stick his finger down a male staffer’s pants and chased the frightened man into the kitchen.

The bizarre public incidents went on and on.

Then in April, we reported that Tracy went nuts during an appearance on a morning TV show.

After ripping off his shirt, he told a stunned show host and viewers at KVIA in El Paso, Texas: “I went to Jaguars (a local topless club) last night. I love the ladies here. Oh, my God! Somebody’s going to get pregnant while I’m in town.”

In the wake of his marriage collapse, Tracy told The ENQUIRER his goal is to celebrate his 39th birthday this Nov. 10 as a sober man. The actor says he’s been attending an alcohol treatment program in New York.

“Being drunk got scary,” he confessed. “And it definitely is not cool to drink and drive. Thank God I didn’t get hurt and that nobody got hurt.”

At his Manhattan Criminal Court sentencing, the actor was hit with a $1,000 fine and a six-month suspension of his driver’s license.

He vowed to The ENQUIRER: “I have no intention of screwing up again.”

by ALEXANDER HITCHEN and JEANNE KING

Tracy’s shenanigans continue to make headlines

THE fourth season of “Desperate Housewives” hasn’t even started, but the set is already a war zone again – with the catty stars taking bets on how long Eva Longoria’s marriage will last.

The peaceful summer hiatus and Eva’s spectacular French wedding have done nothing to quell the cat fights and diva-like behavior that have plagued the nighttime soap in recent years.

The lead actresses on the show – which starts the new season Sept. 30 – are battling over everything from story lines to trailers to photo shoots, say sources.

The atmosphere on the set is so toxic that cast members are making bets about whether Eva’s TV marriage will outlast her off-screen wedding, reveals a series insider.

“The cat claws are out like never before, and the actresses’ inability to get along is causing headaches for producers, writers and crew members. And the one joke that’s keeping a smile on people’s faces is at Eva’s expense.”

The cast is actually making bets which marriage will end first – her fictional character Gabrielle’s marriage to Victor Lang or diva Eva’s recent marriage to pro basketball star Tony Parker, according to the insider.

“Other than sharing the private joke on Eva, the actresses can’t stand to be around one another.”

“WHEN ABC NEEDS A PHOTO OF the Housewives together – Eva, Teri Hatcher, Marcia Cross, Felicity Huffman and Nicollette Sheridan – it’s always a problem because they refuse to sit together for an extended period,” divulged the insider.

“When the marketing department recently needed new pictures of the furious five, a photographer had to

WHOSE NUPTIALS WILL LAST? Eva’s TV union to Victor Lang...