

Green Acres star dies at 99

Green Acres star Eddie Albert has died at the age of 99 at his Los Angeles home after a battle with pneumonia.

"Eddie died peacefully," said an Albert family friend. "His devoted son Edward was by his side, holding his hand as he passed away."

The actor is best known for his role in the late '60s TV comedy Green Acres opposite Eva

By ROBIN MIZRAHI

Gabor, pictured right with Albert. Beginning as a gifted trapeze artist, his career spanned six decades and included such film classics as Roman Holiday and The Heartbreak Kid.

Albert also received a Bronze Star for his heroic rescue of 142 Marines during WWII.

