

CONGRESSMAN
& THE Intern

CONDIT'S PREGNANT

MISSING intern Chandra Levy was strangled by goons working for her lover, Congressman Gary Condit, after he told them he "didn't want to know" what happened to her.

The 24-year-old was pregnant and causing Condit problems until a staff member told him that she would be "taken care of."

After a call from the congressman's office, the 110-pound girl was then lured into a vehicle with three other people in it — and brutally murdered.

That's the shocking scenario outlined by famed psychic investigator James Van Praagh after a team of seers studied the baffling case.

Amazingly, much of it tallies with the views of the cops who are searching for Chandra.

They, too, believe that on May 1, the sweet-natured intern was lured into a vehicle outside her apartment by someone she knew.

Like Van Praagh, they believe that even though she trusted the person she met, she was murdered and her body dumped.

Psychic detective James Van Praagh, who has appeared on Larry King's show, believes thugs working for Condit killed Chandra Levy.

While they are deeply puzzled as to why Chandra would leave her apartment to keep her appointment without taking her pocketbook containing her identification, they note that she was often instructed to do so by her congressman lover.

"It's incredible, but many of the things that the psychic team turned up run parallel to the official lines of inquiry," says a source close to the investigation.

"Van Praagh and his associates zeroed in on the alleged roles of people very close to Condit in Chandra's disappearance.

"And the cops and the FBI have been struck by how often members of Condit's staff keep popping up in their probe, sometimes sailing perilously close to obstruction of justice."

Police investigators interviewed Condit for the fourth time July 26 — just days after Van Praagh's report on the psychic probe was released. Cops then let it be known that they, too, were working on similar theories.

Sources close to the police investigation also revealed that they believe Chandra got into a vehicle outside her apartment, because tracker dogs followed her scent from her room.

CONGRESSMAN HAS HISTORY OF THREATS & VIOLENCE

GARY CONDIT's explosive temper is legendary in his hometown of Modesto, Calif., locals tell GLOBE. And judging by their comments, they're fed up with the "mean spirit, offensive practices and fiery temper" displayed by the controversial congressman. "Condit is an extremely scary man," 57-year-old Donna Crowder reveals to GLOBE. "I know that through personal experience."

A month after telling a local TV station she didn't think Condit was doing enough for veterans, Crowder bumped into him at a rally and said she wanted to speak to him about veterans' issues.

"At first, he turned to me smiling and reached out to shake my hand," she recalls. "But then he recognized me and, in a split second, his smile
