

LOONEY CAUGHT LOVE TRIANGLE

HE'S A SEX MACHINE

Ex-lover's story

GEORGE CLOONEY rarely buys a girl flowers, expensive jewelry or any of the typical things a man does. But he doesn't have to. All he needs is a bed to make him the most romantic, exciting man on earth!"

That's what Clooney's former lover Celine Balitran confided to a pal while revealing the intimate sex secrets of the man recently voted TV's Sexiest Man by TV Guide Magazine. The 28-year-old beauty described the dashing hunk as a "sex machine." She said the first time they made love was at his Hollywood Hills home - and the moment is seared by passion into her heart and memory, forever!

"Celine told me, 'He's incredible in bed,'" says the French beauty's pal. "She said,

"While making love with George, I honestly thought the world was shaking. I never experienced such pleasure. It was pure ecstasy."

George met Celine when she was 21 and swept her off her feet. He convinced her fly to L.A. and move into his modest house, and "she became a slave to their love."

"Celine would tell me over and over, 'No one makes love like George,'" says her friend. "He never quits. He has an incredible physique and such tenderness. His body is the best in every way and I've never been with a man who knows how to please a woman like George."

While touting his prowess, Celine, now married to a screenwriter, slammed the handsome superstar for his immaturity, says the source.

"She told me, 'Sometimes, he is incredibly childish,'" says the friend. "She explained, 'George is great at being a supportive friend and a lover, but he's not a very good boyfriend.'

"George also made it clear to Celine that he'd never get married again."

The ladykiller is a man's man, who loves to hang out with his male friends or his pet pig Max, the source says. The furnishings in his house are cheap and plain, the rooms are messy and there's rarely anything to eat because he prefers to go to restaurants.

Every year, he rents a big bus and takes his male friends on a trip without women, during which they play golf and basketball and party.

Yet, only once in his three years with Celine did he take her on a vacation, to the south of France. "They relaxed, slept late, went out at night and had sex nonstop," says the source.

Celine finally broke up with him, the source says, when she realized "she didn't want to be with a man who valued her less than his career and friends."
