

Jen & Vince get together to talk about their future

By ROBIN MIZRAHI

AFTER nearly two months apart, Jennifer Aniston jetted to London to join hubby-to-be Vince Vaughn – and talk babies, marriage and where they'll live.

The couple caught the musical "Wicked," but spent most of their time holed up in a posh penthouse suite at The Dorchester hotel making big plans for the future, sources say.

"Vince and Jen are now in the process of arranging their lives together – everything from career to a wedding date to parenting," said an insider.

"They'll spend equal amounts of time in L.A. and Chicago – and while she was in London, Jennifer narrowed in on a wedding date.

"It's looking like next summer.

"And Jennifer is out to make sure they're never apart for two months again – no matter what!"

While Vince filmed "Joe Claus" in London, the "Friends" beauty directed video projects and feathered the couple's new nests in L.A. and Chicago.

Jennifer, 37, recently purchased a $15 million six-bedroom, seven-bathroom mansion in Beverly Hills that will be their L.A. base.

She's also been huddling with architects and interior designers on renovating the $8.2 million penthouse condo in Chicago's historic Art Deco Palmolive Building that Vince, 36, bought in April.

"Jen and Vince recently took a break to get their career goals and priorities straight – and they've decided to make life with each other priority number one," said the insider.

LOVE
Jen and in Veg