

THE THREE-DAY BENDER THAT LED TO HER ARREST

Lindsay hangs out at the Polaroid Beach House on July 22 and parties at club LAX (left) later the same day

Ecstasy and alcohol. On Sunday, she went to the club LAX, where she ingested her usual combination of powdered Ecstasy, Adderall and Grey Goose vodka."

But the real trouble started after she invited her assistant Tarin Graham's boyfriend Dan Regan and his pal Dante Nigro to a Monday night party at the beach house.

"All hell broke loose when Lindsay started coming on to Tarin's boyfriend and begging him to get her drugs," disclosed the friend.

"WHEN TARIN WALKED IN ON THE situation, she said: 'That's it. I quit!' But as angry as Tarin was, Lindsay got even angrier.

"She went ballistic and started screaming: 'How dare you! You can't quit!' Things escalated into a horrendous argument between Tarin, her boyfriend and Lindsay."

Tarin drove off in tears, while Lindsay - whose license is suspended - followed closely behind in Dante's GMC Denali with him and his two buddies, Ronnie Blake and Jakon Sutter.

Dante and Jakon - who say they plan to sue Lindsay - claim she drove 100 mph and raced through red lights. Lindsay ended up chasing a car driven by Tarin's mother to a spot near the Santa Monica Police Station - where she was arrested on suspicion of driving under the influence, driving with a suspended license and cocaine possession.

"Lindsay's friend and lawyer Mike Heller posted bail for her," said the friend. Amazingly, Lindsay kept insisting she was innocent, even though she blew 0.12 on the Breathalyzer. The legal limit is .08.

According to her friend, Lindsay's two stints in rehab - four weeks in L.A.'s Wonderland Center early this year and six weeks in Promises - made little impression on her.

"While she was at Wonderland, Lindsay was allowed to work on 'I Know Who Killed Me' and they did not drug-test her. I think she was high during almost the entire shoot," claimed her friend. At Promises, Lindsay was allowed to go out to dinner, as long as she was followed by a sobriety coach - but she was too clever for that.

"She had her friends drive her to a drugstore, where she bought cold tablets and whippets (nitrous oxide) to get high.

"When Lindsay left Promises for a July 4 party, she urinated in a bag and had a friend hold it for her. Then she started drinking and snorting cocaine.

"When she returned to Promises, she used the clean urine for her drug test, but she failed her Breathalyzer. Promises wanted to kick her out, but she was able to smooth things over.

"Now Lindsay's fighting going back into a facility, but rehab won't help her as long as she insists that she isn't an addict."

Add men to her list of addictions

TROUBLED actress Lindsay Lohan is not only addicted to booze and drugs - she's also practically addicted to sex, says a source.

"I don't think Lindsay can sleep alone - absolutely refuses even to try - so she'll drive around looking for some guy to be with," disclosed her longtime friend.

"One late night she drove up to Adam Levine's house, the singer of Maroon 5, and text-messaged him from her car, asking to be invited in. But he refused her - and she was furious.

"Another night she did the same thing to actor Ryan Phillippe. He wouldn't open the door for her either.

"She's so afraid to be alone that she picks up strangers at clubs or on the street, just because they're good-looking.

"One night at the nightclub Les Deux, some guy I'd never seen joined us. When I asked Lindsay who he was, she said: 'Oh he's the cashier at the liquor store I went to the other night. Isn't he hot?'"

"If she can't find someone to spend the night with, she stays up until daylight - then takes some Xanax or Ambien to go to sleep."

She's a mean girl to her contemporaries

TALK about "Mean Girls"! While wasted on booze and drugs, Lindsay Lohan backstabbed her Hollywood competition.

"The higher Lindsay got, the more arrogant and mean she became," said a former party pal of the 21-year-old star.

"She ranted and raved about her talent, claiming: 'I'm the greatest actress in the world! No one's even close to me right now!'"

"And then she proceeded to viciously slam a slew of young actresses, who she considered to be her competition."

Here's what she said about her fellow actresses:

■ Scarlett Johansson is "ugly, fat and has no talent."

■ Jessica Simpson "can't sing and is dumb as (bleep)."

■ Sienna Miller is a "no-talent crackhead."

■ Keira Knightley is "a flat, shallow, cardboard cutout of an actress."

■ Jessica Biel is a "phony, scheming, joke of an actress."
