

Felicity Huffman, Jane Fonda and Lindsay Lohan in "Georgia Rule"

Booze & drug binge after BOX OFFICE BOMB

THE box-office failure of her new movie "Georgia Rule" sent Lindsay Lohan into a drug and alcohol fueled dive, The ENQUIRER has learned exclusively.

Before fleeing to party in the Bahamas in mid-May with new boyfriend Calum Best, Lindsay's movie tanked AND she was dumped by her longtime pal (and recent lover) Samantha Ronson.

"She's been taking way too many drugs, and the last straw was a fight she had with Samantha," confided a friend.

"LINDSAY KEPT CALLING her, screaming and crying, but Samantha finally changed her phone number and told their friends not to give it to her."

After her movie brought in only $6.8 million on its opening weekend "Lindsay was screaming that her career was over," said the friend. "She picked up the phone, called a member of her management team and cursed him out. She said it was his fault her career is in the toilet."

One source says that Lindsay has now been prescribed an antidepressant.

by ROBIN MIZRAHI