

LINDSAY LOHAN'S drug and alcohol use is escalating out of control – and experts warn she's killing herself!

The troubled actress is snorting massive amounts of cocaine mixed with Ecstasy, taking downers to sleep and boozing daily, insiders say – and pals fear she has a death wish.

As The ENQUIRER reported exclusively, Lindsay has already suffered a secret drug overdose. She lost consciousness Nov. 12 after downing a deadly cocktail of Dilaudid, cocaine and Vicodin at Hollywood's Chateau Marmont hotel.

The "Mean Girls" star checked into rehab at the Wonderland Center on Jan. 17. She checked out Feb. 16 – and two days later we reported that she reeked of alcohol when she nearly mowed down a mother and daughter outside a Hollywood hotel.

Now, sources say, she spent days floating in a drug- and booze-fueled haze.

"LINDSAY'S DRUGGING AND drinking is out of control! She learned nothing in rehab," a friend of the 20-year-old actress told The ENQUIRER.

"Her friends are afraid she has a death wish."

Lindsay's substance abuse kicked into high gear when she hit the Coachella music festival in Indio, Calif., in late April.

"Lindsay bought six tablets of Ecstasy – three with an imprint of a blue Smurf and three with a pink diamond," her friend divulged.

The troubled star also bought an "eight-ball" of cocaine (about 3 1/2 grams), the friend added.

"Lindsay did line after line of coke all weekend," her friend revealed. "She was always the last one to leave all-night parties because she was still flying high."

Lindsay – who stayed at the Palm Springs Viceroy hotel – also drank heavily during the rock festival.

"One morning she ordered a $400 breakfast – two bottles of Ketel One vodka, one bottle of Belvedere vodka and a bottle of Patron tequila," said her friend.

Since her lost weekend at Coachella, it seems as if Lindsay has been drifting in a near-24/7 drug haze, according to her friend. "She has taken Ecstasy and cocaine, then a downer to help her sleep for a few hours. When she woke up, she took more Ecstasy and coke," her friend divulged.

"Lindsay sometimes gets nosebleeds, and it's really, really scary. She's just laughs it off – but it's terrifying to see."

The star's newest drug is Ecstasy mixed with cocaine that's been

STILL PARTYING:
Lindsay leaves Club Winston on May 6

Without detox and abstinence, the only result of this scenario is death cut with strawberry flavoring for a fruity taste, says the source.

"Lindsay crushed Ecstasy into the coke and snorted it to get a hardcore rush," said her friend.

"Lindsay is also drinking alcohol. Her favorite is vodka. She pours it into a 16-oz. water bottle and drinks it straight or mixed with some soda. But she also drinks tequila and champagne."

A British newspaper recently reported that she was caught on video that appears to show her snorting cocaine in the bathroom of Teddy's nightclub at Hollywood's Roosevelt Hotel. Lindsay has said the photos are fake.

A friend of the actress also told the newspaper that Lindsay claims to have bedded some of