

is having shotgun wedding?

By ROBIN MIZRAHI

Shocking claims that Lindsay Lohan suffered an overdose have rocked the pencil thin teen queen. The outrageous allegations were made by Lindsay's troubled father Michael, who said he heard she had overdosed while working on her upcoming film comedy Just My Luck earlier this year.

But the Mean Girls star has vehemently denied her father's statements.

He appeared in court for sentencing after being convicted of drunken driving, contempt of court and assault. Under oath, he told the judge: "I heard my daughter had overdosed in New Orleans." The 44-year-old, who has a history of substance abuse, further stated that Lindsay had been put in the hospital earlier this year under an assumed name so "I couldn't find her or find out what was really going on."

Furious Lindsay, 18, fired back through her publicist Leslie Sloane, who said: "That is a blatant lie. She had bronchitis. It's a sad attempt to hurt Lindsay and her career. It's just mean. He's hurting his daughter."

Michael Lohan, who has spent at least three stints in rehab, was sentenced May 27 to between 14 months to four years in prison for his offenses.

Last November, after Lindsay was hospitalized in Los Angeles for a high fever, he hinted publicly that Lindsay had been admitted to the hospital because of drugs and alcohol. Lindsay denied that suggestion as well, claiming that her father's statements were "a cry for attention."

FAST FACT

Lindsay Morgan Lohan's favorite food is sushi. But she can't eat blueberries - she's allergic

THEN 130 lbs

ALL SMILES: Lindsay looked healthy in New York City in January 2004

In a recent interview, Lindsay admitted: "I'm not going to deny the fact that I've tried pot. I hated it. But I've never tried cocaine. I've seen my father. I've seen how he messes with families and it * your life up."

"If I hadn't experienced that, my life may have gone a different route. But I've seen how it literally tore my parents apart. So when my mom calls me saying my dad's going to announce that I'm doing drugs and then they say I'm in the hospital for drugs, that really sucks."

"People get to the point when they're absolutely so desperate that