

FEUD RENEWED

as Lindsay locks lips
with Paris' boyfriend

MEAN GIRLS: Paris and Lindsay are back at it again after Lindsay was caught with Stavros Niarchos

By ROBIN MIZRAHI

THE tangled love lives of Paris Hilton and Lindsay Lohan have spawned one of the most complicated Hollywood feuds ever!

It looked like the Paris Hilton-Lindsay Lohan feud was over – until Lindsay was caught making out with Paris' former boyfriend Stavros Niarchos at a Hollywood nightclub recently!

And to make matters even more confusing, Paris and Stavros had rekindled their love just four days earlier at the Hollywood hotspot Les Deux, The ENQUIRER has learned.

"Paris was hanging out with Michelle Trachtenberg when Stavros showed up at Les Deux on Sept. 20," revealed an insider. "And before the night was over, Paris was definitely back on with Stavros. They were holding hands and laughing and ended up leaving the club together."

Meanwhile, sources say Lindsay was dumped by her boyfriend Harry Morton on Sept. 21, after she confronted Harry about rumors that he had been seen flirting with Paris. Harry told

Harry Morton

Lindsay he wasn't ready to commit, and if she was going to hound him, their relationship was "over," says the source.

Later that evening, Lindsay arrived at Les Deux and appeared to make up with Paris – who assured Lindsay that nothing was going on between her and Harry.

But days later, things got even more tangled when Lindsay showed up at the Dragonfly nightclub with Stavros – and the two were spotted making out inside the club!

"They were dirty-dancing together and kissing – and then they left together in the early morning hours," revealed an eyewitness.

Said the insider: "In one fell swoop, Lindsay made Paris mad at her again!"