Nicole's baby bump is in full bloom as she leaves her yoga class on June 6

She wants to have baby in Nashville

NICOLE KIDMAN is busting out all over! As these exclusive ENQUIRER photos show, the 41-year-old expectant mom's pregnancy is finally in full bloom – and she's never looked more radiant.

"She's carrying beautifully," a source close to Nicole and hubby Keith Urban told The ENQUIRER. "Nicole is beside herself with joy as she and Keith anticipate the birth of their first baby.

"The two of them are like a couple of giddy kids now. They've officially begun their new life together. This baby is binding them as a family."

The Oscar-winning actress has decided to have the baby in her adopted hometown of Nashville. She's due in July.

"Nicole is at home in Tennessee – and is very happy," said the source.

It hasn't always been smooth sailing for the couple. When Keith, 40, relapsed with an alcohol addiction just months after their marriage, Nicole considered leaving him, says the source.

"She was afraid to invest emotionally in him. While he seemed like the nicest guy in the world, she was afraid to trust him."

But she stuck by his side, and now with the baby coming, "she knows she made the right decision."

"Keith knows many women would have left him for relapsing so soon after they married," added the source.

"So today he feels doubly blessed."
