

PAM IN A SNIT

After Tommy Lee hooks up with 'Rock' star

ROCK 'N' ROLL bad boy Tommy Lee has found a new love interest – and Pamela Anderson is fuming. The Motley Crue drummer, 35, has hooked up with 15-year-old Daisy De La Hoya from VH1's "Rock of Love 2," even though the ex-"Baywatch" babe and her two sons are living with him in Calabasas, Calif., sources say.

Pam, 41, has been using the family's living arrangement to promote her new E! channel reality series, "Pam: Girl on the Loose" and she's furious! "She's overemphasizing the idea that she and Tommy might reunite for the sake of the show, so she's livid about Tommy and his new rocker chick," an insider told The ENQUIRER.

Pam talked about the new setup with Tommy on ABC's "The View," saying: "We're best friends. He's the father of my kids, and we get along great. You never know what can happen!"

But while Tommy loves Pam and is a great dad to their sons Brandon, 12, and 10-year-old Dylan, he has a tough time resisting sexy young fans who throw themselves at him, said the source.

On "Rock of Love 2," tattooed singer-model Daisy lived with her ex-boyfriend while pursuing Poison frontman Bret Michaels – and dating guitar hero Dave Navarro. Although she wasn't chosen as Bret's "Rock of Love," Daisy didn't waste any time moving on to Tommy Lee.

Another source added: "Daisy has worshipped Motley Crue since she was a little girl. Landing Tommy is the ultimate trophy for her – but a pain in the butt for Pam."
