

LISA RINNA IS ON THE LOOSE

DANCING With the Stars" stunner Lisa Rinna spends hours in the gym – but no matter how hard she works out, she can't seem to overcome her flabby stomach!

The 44-year-old wife of Harry Hamlin maintains a vigilant routine of exercise, jogging and stretching, but as these exclusive ENQUIRER photos show, her tummy droops and wrinkles ever so slightly when she bends over. Los Angeles-based cosmetic surgeon Dr. Steven Svehlak, who has not treated Lisa, says the star most likely has loose abdominal skin as a result of her pregnancies.

OPERATION

"Lisa is slim and toned, but her skin has stretched and loosened – possibly a result of having two children.

"After pregnancies, many women experience not only baggy skin, but stretched and loose stomach muscles as well.

"Lisa's lean and fit, and her muscles look strong, so I'd blame it more on her skin."

Dr. Svehlak said a tummy tuck – or abdominoplasty – could fix the problem.

"The muscles under the skin are tightened, the loose skin on top is stretched, and the excess is cut out," he explained.

"It can definitely improve a woman's figure after childbirth, and give her back that youthful early-20s abdomen she had before her pregnancies."

TOUGH-GUY CLINT STARES OLD AGE IN THE FACE

CLINT EASTWOOD is so tough even Father Time is afraid of him.

The eternally youthful screen hero seems to have stopped the clock in its tracks, with a scowl, a growl and a dare to "make my day."

The 77-year-old Hollywood legend looks so good it led a leading Beverly Hills dermatologist to wonder if he might have undergone some touch-up work.

The physician compared pictures of Clint taken in 2004 to recent shots.

"In the most recent photos, Clint looks much more bright-eyed than he did a few years back," the expert told The ENQUIRER.

"He might have reduced the wrinkles and folds around his eyes with laser resurfacing, a chemical peel or a lower and upper eyelift – or a combination of all three."

The doctor explained that a laser procedure can smooth out fine lines almost like a magic wand.

Chemical peels use a solution to smooth the skin's texture by removing its damaged outer layers. It can reduce or eliminate wrinkles, facial blemishes and uneven skin pigmentation.

Eyelid surgery removes fat and excess skin and muscle from the upper and lower eyelids. This procedure corrects drooping upper lids and puffy bags below the eyes, but it won't remove wrinkles.

"If he did have work done on his eyes, it was a very good job – extremely natural and subtle," continued the physician.

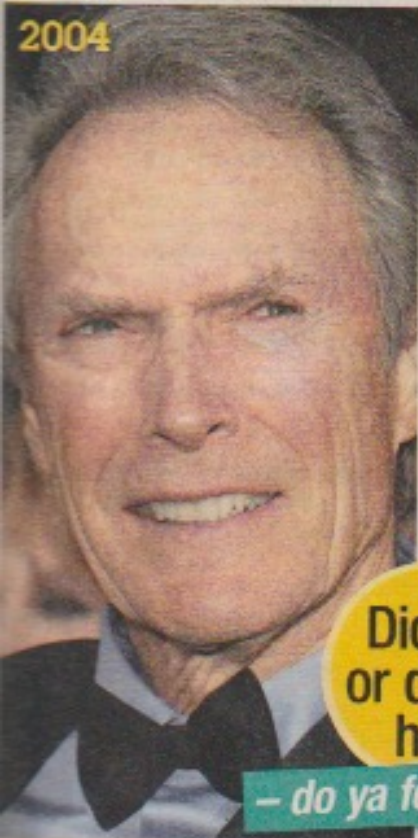

So did he or didn't he?

When we went to Clint's camp to inquire if he indeed had some facial work done, he knew what we were thinking and reminded us that a man must know his limitations. The actor had his straight-shooting lawyers send us a nice note, which states: "Mr. Eastwood has never had cosmetic eye or skin rejuvenation surgeries or procedures."

The letter notes the rugged star is "a Hollywood icon who has chosen to age gracefully."

We're guessing that makes him feel lucky.
