

BONNY LEE'S SEX DIARIES

LETTERS REVEAL SHE WAS...

- ✓ Raped by a sick creep
- ✓ Enjoyed gay threesomes
- ✓ Liked playing love slave

ROBERT BLAKE's slain wife Bonny Lee Bakley was a kinky sex addict, who confessed to having hundreds of lovers.

Bakley described in shocking detail her outrageous sex life in a series of letters obtained by GLOBE. They reveal a huge craving for a wide variety of sexual thrills - including lesbian romps, orgies and sado-masochism.

She wrote to one guy, "You will soon find out I am the type of girl who is totally uninhibited and enjoys almost any type of sexual pleasure that can be experienced.

"You found a girl that is into swinging because she loves sex, sex and more sex, and I will meet you and show you exactly what I mean."

But Bonny Lee, who was 44 when she was shot to death as she sat alone in a parked car on an L.A. street on May 4, also confessed that one of her many flings ended in rape.

"Out in the swinging world, there are some real creeps, weirdos and perverted creatures," she wrote, explaining why she'd become hesitant about giving out her address and phone number.

"I had the misfortune to run into one awhile back."

After receiving a nice letter and photo, she set up a date with the man.

"When I arrived, I soon found he was at least 50 pounds overweight, his teeth were rotting and his apartment looked like a pigpen," her letter reveals.

"I started to get the hell out of there, but he just forced me to do as he wanted and left me covered with black and blue marks."

But that didn't curb Bonny Lee's voracious sexual appetites.

She promises in another letter, "I have a few toys that will make it better for me and you as well. I have my vibrating egg and my little vibrator."

Bonny Lee boasted that "there is little that I have not tried. I am known as a try-sexual...I will try anything once."

'I'm a try-sexual
- I'll try anything'