

FIANCEE READY TO CALL IT QUITS WITH RYAN PHILLIPPE

Abbie Cornish STORMS OUT IN TEARS after big fight at club

The couple was spotted shopping in Hollywood on Nov. 11, just days before the blowup

Ryan and Abbie made a quick exit from club Villa on Nov. 13

ABBIE CORNISH is so fed up with fiancé Ryan Phillippe's fickle affection that she's threatening to call off their engagement, The ENQUIRER has learned.

Tension between the couple exploded at the trendy West Hollywood hotspot Villa on Nov. 13. The two had a huge fight that left Abbie running to the restroom in tears!

"RYAN AND ABBIE WERE visibly upset with each other when they arrived at the club," an eyewitness told The ENQUIRER. "As he pushed his way to a table, she walked several feet behind him with her head hung low. It was obvious she had been crying."

Ryan ordered a drink for himself and chatted with his pals — and completely ignored Abbie. Although she made several attempts to get his attention, he continued to ignore her, says the source.

When she'd finally had enough of the silent treatment, she got up and angrily told Ryan she was going to the ladies' room. He shouted at her: "I don't care!"

Abbie immediately burst into tears, ran to the bathroom and cried for nearly 15 minutes, says the source.

She spent the remainder of the evening at the bar, pouring her heart out to a girlfriend.

"I don't know how much more of this I can take," Abbie said.

"Ryan's affection is so unpredictable — I don't know what to expect from him from one moment to the next.

"It's like he's madly in love with me one day and a complete stranger the next. If that's the way it's going to be, I'd rather call it quits now than keep putting myself through that."

Ryan, 34, and Abbie, 26, met in 2006 during the filming of

"Stop-Loss," while Ryan was still married to Reese Witherspoon. She moved into his $7 million Hollywood Hills home shortly after he purchased it in June, but Ryan has insisted that their engagement remain a secret because of the bad press he received when his marriage to Reese crumbled.

"Ryan's affection for Abbie goes from being red hot to ice cold at the drop of a hat," the source continued. "He puts her on a pedestal one day, and the next day he pushes her away and acts like he doesn't want anything to do with her.

"Abbie loves Ryan with all her heart, but she's told him that unless he makes some serious changes in the way he treats her — the wedding is off!"
